The Janesville Daily Gazette.

VOLUME 27. | Entered at the Post Office at Janesville, Wis., as second-class matter. | JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1884. | Published Every Evening Except Sunday, at $6 a Year. | NUMBER 311

George E. Smith, attorney of Union City, Michigan, was guilty of some official crookedness, and for fear of being exposed, shot himself. If he was a moral coward, suicide showed that his conscience was not deeply seared.

The advice of the Chicago Evening Journal, regarding the excitement over the "diamond field of Wisconsin," is wise and timely: "Wait until other diamonds shall have been discovered before blindly investing in property at that place." The diamond referred to was found at Eagle, in Waukesha county.

The annual season of Lent begins today, and will continue for forty days. During that period "society" and the churches will supposably be clothed in sackcloth and ashes.—Chicago Journal.

The season of Lent will continue forty-seven days this year—beginning on the 27th of February, and closing on Easter Sunday, April 13th.

The Wisconsin State board of supervisors reports that during the month of February the current expenses of the state institutions were as follows; State prison, $7,783; Industrial school for boys, $4,822; Deaf and Dumb, $3,255; Institution for the blind, $1,908; State insane hospital, $6,654; Northern insane hospital, $8,791; total, $33,803.

Under the peculiar circumstances of the case, one of the grossest insults to justice we have heard of for some time, comes from Kentucky. One by the name of William King, was recently converted at Caldwell in that state, and at the revival meeting he rose and confessed that he had robbed a store in 1863 of $300 worth of goods. He went to the proprietor the next day and paid the amount, with twenty years' interest, but was immediately arrested for theft, and now languishes in jail. If King had committed murder by shooting some antagonist to the ground, he would have been considered a hero, and would have been a free man. The usual practice in Kentucky, warrants this statement.

The cloud under which Minister Hunt died in at St. Petersburg, forcibly illustrates the folly of depending upon office for a living. He lived in New Orleans while William Pitt Kellogg was governor, and held the position of judge. When Kellogg was sent to the senate he induced Judge Hunt to go to Washington and attempt to get a position on the bench of the court of claims. He did did so, and was successful in getting the appointment. The position pays $4,500 annually, and being a life place, there was a strong reason why Judge Hunt should have remained on the bench. But Judge Hunt did not let well enough alone, and being under the dangerous influence of Kellogg, he was led to seek a place in Garfield's cabinet, and was appointed secretary of the navy. But political positions are as uncertain as the wind and as changeable as the clouds, and when Garfield fell, Hunt lost his place in the cabinet. His wife was counted the handsomest women in Washington, and one of rare social power. She tried to save her husband from the ax of political guillotine, but her tearful pleading was in vain. The ax fell, and Hunt was out of office. He was a man of rather small means both financially and intellectually, and his forced retirement to private life made him dispondent and heart-sick. When every social art had failed to retain him in President Arthur's cabinet, and poor Hunt was crushed by disappointment and his mind abandoned to gloom, the president took a little pity on him and sent him to the court of Russia, but even at $17,500 a year, this was but an exile, as he was not suited to such an exalted diplomatic position, and during the past year he struggled to obtain a place at home. He was 60 years old, and has a son who is a prominent young officer in the navy.

The Janesville Gazette accuses the State Journal of "selfishness and stubbornness," "a spirit of bitterness," and with having no "common sense or regard for the welfare of the republican party in the third district," because this journal opposes the movement inaugurated by the editor of the Mineral Point Tribune, for a joint meeting of the rival republican congressional committees for the purpose of forming a new campaign committee. The Gazette appears to wholly misapprehend the object of the State Journal. That object is to let the Keyes-Huzelton affair drop out of sight, just as it it never occurred. The attempt to bring about a conference meeting, at this late day, will only renew remembrances of the unfortunate episode of 1882, and is not only injudicious, but quite unnecessary. * * * * The State Journal trusts that the proposed Bonnett-Clementson meeting will not be held; believing that it can do no good, that it will only serve for the time to renew hostilities that should be forgotten, and that the people would much prefer a campaign committee that came directly from them, wholly untrammeled, and resenting them much better than one made up out of selections from the warring factions of eighteen months ago. Let the old congressional committees drop out of sight, with their conflicting titles, and let us have party harmony, growing out of an entirely new deal. This may be "a spirit of bitterness" in the eyes of the Janesville Gazette, but in the eyes of the State Journal it is a spirit of concord. —State Journal.

Our esteemed cotemporary labors under a false impression when it says that the Gazette accuses it of selfishness and stubbornness, or anything of that kind. The Gazette, the editor is glad to say, never accused the State Journal of any such a spirit as that. By producing the editorial item from the Journal, the Gazette wanted to show the present condition of things in the Third district so far as the two republican factions were concerned. The Gazette condemned the card of Judge Clementson, in bringing together the dual committees at this particular time, and called that a manifestation of the spirit of bitterness, but did not and could not censure the Journal because the Gazette holds the same views as that paper does on the question of calling together the two republican congressional committees. And further, the Gazette stood on grounds identical with the Journal during the struggle in that district in 1882 and the elapse of two years has not suggested to the Gazette that it was in error in so doing.

MARCHING ON MAHDI.

British Troops Advancing on the Egyptian Prophet's Forces,

With a First-Class Chance of Getting Into a Row---Dynamite Schemers in Paris---Operations in Manitoba.

CAIRO, Feb. 28.—At Trinkitat the beach presented a lively appearance. Blue jackets, up to their necks in water, were landing stores and carrying soldiers ashore through the surf. The Gordon Highlanders and the Irish Fusileers advanced to occupy the fort effected by Baker Pasha. They waded barelegged through the morasses which lie between the harbor and the main land. The distance to the fort is about four miles. It was built Feb. 2 to protect the guns while crossing the morrasses. The rebels regarded with exultation the landing of the forces. They were convinced that Allah had sent all as a prey for them.

The advance of the English troops on Teb commenced before daybreak. Two hundred and fifty men left the garrison at Trinkitat, and a force of 3,000 advanced to the attack. It was expected a battle would be fought in the morning. The naval brigade joined Gen. Graham with two nine-pounders. There is a growing anxiety in Cairo about the result of the expedition, and less confidence that the English will be victorious. The black troops at Suakim were found in communication with Ashmed Baroudi, second in command under Osman Digma. Admiral Hewett has forbidden them leave camp, and stationed the gun-boats Decoy and Sphinx so their guns command the camp, with others to open fire if there are any symptoms of mutiny.

The British camp is well protected with earthworks. Spies report that Osman Digma is threatening Suakim. Admiral Hewett has returned to Suakim. The rebels are massing one mile from Fort Baker, and firing at the British videts, without, however, doing any harm. A Krupp gun has just been mounted at the fort.

The Dynamite Headquarters.

PARIS, Feb. 28.—The police are convinced that the advanced Irish party have made Paris their headquarters in Europe for the preparations of their dynamite schemes. The Inspectors say the Nationalist colony includes representatives of the three Centres of the Irish Republican brotherhood. The first section comprises the former Fenians, James Stephens, John O'Leary, and Gen. McAdaras. The last named disavows belonging to the society. His mission was to counsel with the friends of extreme views, but not his duty to reveal their acts, however nefarious or mistaken they might be. He was certain other Nationalists shared this view.

Capt. MacCafferty said the weak were justified in using terrorism against the strong. He repudiated affiliation with continental secret societies. He sympathized with the revolutionary propagandism in Europe because Ireland was benefitted thereby, but Nationalism, even the most extreme, was not necessarily linked with Nihilism or anarchy. He denied conspiring actively, but added that experience was valuable to prevent the repetition of former mistakes.

The police have traced the arrival of five "transfers," or men belonging to the third or active section of the dynamiters, who have been told off for the next attempts. One of them is from Buffalo, N. Y., one from Paterson, N. J., one from Brooklyn, N. Y., and two from Texas. They are believed to be pupils of Mozoroff.

The other Irishmen under watch are Cornelius Cullimore, Eugene Davis and Casey. It is believed that the dynamite is made at Montrogh. The supposed manufacturer is registered as an authorized chemical student. The measure under which authorization is necessary is confined to the making of dynamite. The instructor is believed to be a man named Brady, under the alias of "King." The brotherhood meet in the Rue Corneille, Rue Saint Honore, and Avenue Victor Hugo.

Inciting Trouble in Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 28.—During the last few days the papers have been publishing reports of a Fenian organization being formed in Dakota and Minnesota for the purpose of joining with the people of Manitoba, who are now in an unsettled state, and aiding them in their struggle against the Dominion government. To these reports denials have been given by gentlemen whose names were connected with the movement, notably Capt. Griggs, of Grand Forks. An event has transpired, however, which lends unmistakable importance to the most incendiary reports. An advertisement was left at The Free Press counter by a young man who said it had been sent from Fort Osborne. The advertisement was signed "Lieut. Col. Houghton, deputy adjutant general." It called for 500 men to do frontier duty at Emerson and other points on the international boundary. Applications to be made at military headquarters, recruits to be of certain standard height and age, and naming amount of pay, etc. It also asked for 1,200 volunteers as a "reserve" force, and requested citizens to loan all arms, etc., in their possession to the government.

Before insertion Col. Houghton was communicated with, who promptly repudiated the order, and it was not published.

A man named R. Ryan, an Irish Catholic, called at the same office and left the copy of a similar document, with an order for a lot of circulars. The order was taken and executed, but when Ryan returned for the circulars he was handed over to the police and locked up. There is now no doubt that the Fenian organization of the states has emissaries here to further their scheme of forming an independent colony. The prisoner is correspondent of the New York Irish World.

Counterfeiter Arrested.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 28.—O. G. Martin, jeweler, of Blythe, has been arrested for circulating counterfeit $10 bills. He had sent out circulars signed W. A. Garland, offering to dispose of "queer" money. Detectives discovered the circulars, and traced the matter to Martin. He confesses that he has been carrying on the business for nearly a year. He produced a very good imitation of bank note paper, and succeeded in getting out a very fair counterfeit by photographic process.

A Heavy Penalty.

PETERSBURG, Va., Feb. 28.—In the case of the Commonwealth vs. The Dismal Swamp Canal Lottery company, of this state, involving the right to sell or buy lottery tickets, the jury in the hustings court of this city rendered a verdict against the local agent of the company, who was find $5 and sentenced to five minutes imprisonment.

A Rescue Scare.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The officials of the government buildings at Chatham are alarmed by rumors that an attempt will be made to rescue the Invincibles confined in the military prison there. The guard around the prison has been doubled.

Supposed Dynamiters Arrested.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—A rumor that the detectives at Charing Cross station had made two arrests, is confirmed. Two men, well dressed, and apparently belonging to the upper classes, were driven at 3:45 a. m. to Scotland Yard, guarded by a strong force of police. It cannot yet be learned who they are or with what offence they are charged.

Gen. Gordon's Style.

CAIRO, Feb. 28.—Two armed steamers have proceeded up the White Nile from Khartoum, under Gen. Stewart, bearing the white flag and distributing Gen. Gordon's proclamations. Gen. Gordon has explained that his theatrical actions and announcements are necessary to impress the people with a sense of his power.

Fought Their Way Through.

CAIRO, Feb. 28.—Several native tribes who are friendly to the English and Egyptians assembled and fought their way through the line of rebels surrounding Suakim, about nine miles from the town. They numbered about 2,000 men and have sent word that they wish to enter Suakim as allies.

Another Dynamite Explosion.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Four men were killed and sixteen fatally injured, by the explosion of a quantity of dynamite in a quarry in Wales.

The Iowa Legislature.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Feb. 28.—The prohibition bill was taken up in the house, and was amended by its friends so that it practically conforms to the bill passed by the senate, the vote being a strictly party one except that Jordan, Groenbacker, voted with the Republicans, two Republicans and one Democrat being absent. An amendment was offered by Mr. Merrill declaring that the bill if it became a law would not prevent the export from the state of any of the commodities mentioned therein. This amendment was voted down, and a directly contrary one was offered by Mr. Bolter, declaring that the measure would prevent the export of the prohibited manufactures of the state. During the debate, which took a wide range, it was shown that thirty-two barrels of the product of the Des Moines distillery had been sold to saloon-keepers in the city of Muscatine. This amendment was pending when the house adjourned.

The senate passed the bill for the protection of mines and miners, and then took up the application of E. J. Bruce for pardon. Bruce is serving a life sentence in Fort Madison for the killing of McNamara at Keokuk eight years ago. He is well connected, and the deed was committed when crazed with liquor. The application for pardon was signed by all the living court officials and jurymen who participated in the case, by Judges Love and McCrary, and a large number of influential citizens of Lee county. It passed by a vote of 33 to 10.

Prison Reform

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—At the conference of prison officials from different states at the Fifth Avenue hotel, Sinclair Tousey presided. The subject for discussion was "The Indefinite Sentence." Mr. G. W. Burchard, of Fort Atkinson, Wis., opened the discussion, and argued that prisoners should be held as long as they are dangerous to society. Mr. Smith, of the New York Prison association, favored Mr. Burchard's views. The discussion was participated in by Mr. Adams, of Colorado; Rev. William Lacy, chaplain of Auburn prison; Mr. J. C. Volter, of the Southern penitentiary, and others.

Lieut. Rhodes' Generosity.

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 28.—The action for which Lieut. Rhodes petitions the chamber of commerce relative to putting the families of deceased members of the revenue service on the same footing as those of the naval service, will be considered as soon as Mayor Lewis, the president, recovers from an attack of rheumatism. The lieutenant asks permission of the secretary of the navy to divide the $3,000 that he has received from various sources, among the members of his command.

Off for a Tour.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Eleven prominent Catholics, who are engaged in making a tour of the world, left this city for Havre, on board the steamer Amerique. It was expected the party would consist of fourteen, but the other three had not arrived when the steamer left. The pilgrimage will be to Havre, thence to Paris, Lourdes, Rome, Egypt and Jerusalem. Returning, the route will be through Constantinople, Athens, Ephesus, Corinth and the principal cities of Europe to London and Liverpool, and thence to Quebec. Devotional exercises will be held at Lourdes, Rome and Jerusalem.

Gone for His Gun.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 28.—There was considerable excitement among the members of the assembly over the difficulty between Assemblymen Howe and Burns. Mr. Howe, at a banquet, made a speech giving a supposed humorous illustration of Burns making a speech in the assembly. Burns, having learned of the burlesque, left the assembly chamber, declaring his purpose to procure a weapon and forthwith puncture Howe with a bullet on sight.

Will Be Hauled Over the Coals.

MONTREAL, Feb. 28.—Walter Wilson, the recalcitrant bridegroom, has been summoned to appear on Feb. 29 before a committee of the St. James club, of which he was a member, to answer in regard to his conduct toward Mis McDougall, his late fiancee. The St. James is the most fashionable club in the city, and by a recent change in its rules it is able to bring recalcitrant members before it for trial and expulsion if necessary.

Planting White Fish.

ERIE, Pa., Feb. 28.—United States Fish Commissioner Ellis has brought to Erie from the national fish hatchery at Northville, Mich., 3,000,000 white fish minnows, and deposited them in the bay. A like number has been planted at Manistee, Mich., and Grand Haven, Mich. A similar number will be planted at Oswego this week, and 75,000,000 in all will be placed in the chain of great lakes within the next ten days.

Ex-Governor Hubbard.

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 28.—Ex-Governor Hubbard is unconscious. His kidneys have ceased to perform their functions, and blood poisoning has developed. It is admitted that he cannot live, though Dr. Loomis says he may survive twelve hours.

Death of Ex-Governor Hubbard.

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 28.—Ex-Governor Hubbard is dead. He was born in Berlin, Conn., Dec. 7, 1813. He was graduated from Yale college in 1839. He was elected to congress 1867, and governor of Connecticut 1877, the first governor under the two-year term.

Burned in a Lime-Kiln.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 28.—Charles Brown (colored), aged 25, was found dead in Jordan's lime-kiln. He went to the kiln to sleep and rolled over into the fire. He was burned to a crisp.

Nine hat factories at Reading, Pa., have announced a reduction of 12 per cent. in wages, and the Weimer machine-works, at Lebanon, have made a cut of 8 per cent.

In Love with America.

BOSTON, Feb. 28.—In an interview with an American Press Association reporter, Henry Irving said that the report that he intended to stand for parliament was entirely unfounded. He thought it arose from his election to the Reform club. He said art was his vocation, and he should stick to it. He was in love with America, in fact, he would be a brute if he were not, after the magnificent receptions he had met.

Suffered for more than a third of a century.

GOT 'EM BACK AGAIN.

The State Department Receives the Returned Lasker Resolutions.

Thanks from the German Liberals---Close Shave for the Cattle Bill---A Lively Scene in the Senate---Notes.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 28.—A communication received by Speaker Carlisle respecting the Lasker resolutions is not from a minority of the reichstag, as has been reported, but from the executive committee of the Liberal league of Germany. Representative Deuster, of Wisconsin, has the communication in his possession. He will translate it, and at the first opportunity lay it before the house. Representative Deuster will be followed by Representative Guenther, of Wisconsin, who will move to spread the communication on the journal. He will show that it bears the signatures of a number of the most prominent citizens of Germany, and will maintain that it is therefore worthy of this consideration. The communication is the result of a meeting recently held by the Liberal league in Berlin. It expresses the gratification of the league at the action of the house of representatives, and tends to prove to German-Americans that the rejection of the resolution was simply to enable Prince Bismarck to gain the support of a certain faction of the German parliament in a scheme in which he needed votes. German members of the house of representatives say the very best of feeling always existed between Prince Bismarck and Lasker, that the latter always supported the former, and in conversation was invariably enthusiastic in his praises of Bismarck. These points will be brought out in brief speeches on the subject by Representatives Deuster (Democrat) and Guenther (Republican), to whose care the communication has been intrusted by Speaker Carlisle.

BERLIN, Jan. 27, 1884.

The undersigned, executive committee of the Liberal union, has the honor to express at the request of all its members, who are to-day present from the various parts of the German empire, to the house of representatives at Washington, its warmest thanks for the resolutions which they have passed in honor of Edouard Lasker, its late leader and friend.

The Liberal union combines with this acknowledgement of its thanks the most heartfelt wishes for the welfare and prosperity of the powerful and rising United States of America, and for the strengthening and further development of the mutual friendship between both nations."

The executive committee of the Liberal union:

L. Bamberger.
Ruckert.
R. Forckenbeck.
K. Schraeder.
G. R. Bunsen.
Frederick Kapp.

To the house of representatives.

The state department has received the Herr Lasker resolutions returned by Bismarck. The resolutions will be delivered to the house, and will be referred to the committee on foreign affairs, which will consider what course shall be taken. The opinion among members as to what should be done is very much divided. There will be a strong movement to place Bismarck's return of the resolutions in the light of an affront, and an effort will be made to secure congressional expression in that direction. On the other hand, some congressmen are inclined to look on Bismarck's objection as well taken, and cannot see that the house is in a position to do anything. The general feeling, however, is one of indignation, and the house will be apt to pass a resolution expressing its poor opinion of Prince Bismarck

The Pleuro-Pneumonia Bill.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 28.—The fate of the pleuro-pneumonia bill is still undecided. The representatives of Kansas and the northwestern states regard the bill as the most important that has been before this congress, because it might afford the cattle-men of that region some protection against the spread of Texas cattle fever, as well as against other contagious diseases of domestic animals. The Texas representatives still maintain a stout resistance to the whole bill, and particularly to the section authorizing quarantine to be enforced against states in which diseased cattle exist. They have insisted that the chief purpose was to legislate against Texas cattle at the instance of cattle-men of the northwest, and they succeeded in having the section relating to quarantine eliminated from the bill, but this action will be revised by the house upon a yea and nay vote, which may change the result, as some of the Democrats who have opposed the bill may not think it politic to go on record against a measure in which Mr. Cook, a Democratic representative from Iowa, solemnly warned them that the whole northwest was more vitally interested than any legislation brought before congress. He said the acts of the dominant party in congress had thus far commended it to the people of the northwest, but it would be a serious if not fatal blunder to refuse this measure of relief. The Texas men attempted to kill the bill by a motion to strike out the enacting clause, and failed only by four votes in a total of 282. The Republicans and about one-third of the Democrats have thus far sustained the bill against all attacks.

A Scene in the Senate.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 28.—The debate in the senate on the steel cruisers was enlivened by an exciting incident. The Democracy are divided upon the bill, and the fact that some of their number, like Mr. Butler, of South Carolina, and Mr. Jones, of Florida, support it makes it embarrassing to use their arguments of corruption in the navy-yards and in the management of the department. The debate proceeded in its usual course, Mr. Hale advocating the cruisers, assisted by Messrs. Jones and Butler. The two Democrats based their arguments on broad national grounds, and did not see what relation past abuses had to do with the question. Late in the day Mr. Vest, of Missouri, after having suggested that naval officers had begged him to vote for the bill, insinuated that the secretary of the navy could not be trusted; that the money would be used for political purposes; and Mr. Butler, of South Carolina, was the ally and adjutant general of Mr. Hale. The blood of the southern senator mounted quickly to his face, and for half an hour there was a passage-at-arms between those two hotspurs, such as has not been witnessed before in this congress. At one time it seemed as if the controversy might be of a serious character, as the familiar words rang out from Mr. Vest that his honor was not to be attacked "here or elsewhere," etc., and Mr. Butler, of South Carolina, was never known to yield to an adversary. But by the skill of Mr. Harris, of Tennessee, who was in the chair, and the tact of Messrs. Voorhees and Hale in securing an adjournment, the scene was cut short.

The Day in Congress.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 28.—In the senate Mr. Van Wyck asked immediate consideration for a resolution directing the postoffice committee to inquire whether at any time the Western Union and the Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph companies had negotiated for consolidation. Bills were introduced to improve the channel and the Gulf of Mexico, and to incorporate and aid the Yellowstone Park railroad. A resolution was passed calling on the secretary of the interior for information as to the rumored lease of the Crow reservation in Montana. The bill for the construction of eleven vessels for the navy led to a hot debate.

The house of representatives adopted a resolution directing the secretary of the treasury to state how much money there is in the vaults, and to report what amount can at present be applied in liquidation of the public debt. Mr. Le Fevre offered a resolution directing the preparation of a bill to prohibit option trading in grain or provisions, but Mr. Cox objected. In committee of the whole, some amendments of the pleuro pneumonia bill were made, but the house adjourned without taking action on the measure.

The Greely Relief Crew.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 28.—The officers for the Thetis and Bear on the Greely expedition have been selected as follows: Steamer Thetis (advance vessel)—Commander, W. O. Schley, commander; Lieut Uriel Sebree, executive officer; Lieut Emery Taunt, navigating officer; Lieut S. C. Lowey, ensign harbor, Chief Engineer Melville and past Assistant Surgeon Green.

Steamer Bear—Lieut. W. H. Emory, commander; Lieut. Colwell, executive officer Lieut. Reynolds, navigating officer; ensign usher, past Assistant Surgeon Nash and Chief Engineer Lowe. An additional vessel to carry coal will accompany the expedition.

Abram and Perry.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 28.—Representative Hewitt, of New York, sent a friend to Mr. Perry Belmont to inquire of that gentleman what course he proposed pursuing in regard to the controversy over the O'Donnell resolution. Mr. Belmont's reply was that he would await developments, and that if Mr. Hewitt saw fit to agitate the matter in the house when the committee made its report, he would be prepared to say something on the subject. The report was made, but Mr. Hewitt made no attempt to agitate the matter, and the indications are that the subject will now be dropped.

The Russian Emperor Regrets.

WASHINGTON CITY, Feb. 23.—Mr. De Struve, the Russian minister, called on Secretary Frelinghuysen and read to him the following telegram from the minister for foreign affairs of Russia:

"To the Russian minister, Washington: The emperor instructs you to express to the president and to the government of the United States the sincere regret which the the death of Mr. Hunt causes his majesty. I have no need to add that the government and Russian society are much affected by this loss. GIERS."

Notes.

The Flathead Indians, who have been here for a month past, soon leave for home. Chief Charlos, who had an operation performed on his eyes, has had his sight greatly improved thereby.

Precocious Young America.

ROCHESTER, Pa., Feb. 28.—A 12-year old lad got on a train at Brighton to take a ride, and when between Beleeville and this place took out a revolver and began shooting at Walter Folwell, the conductor of the train. He fired three shots before being overpowered and put off the cars. An officer was informed of the boy's act, and arrested and took him before Squire T. M. Taylor, who sent him to jail to wait until his father arrived. The boy would not divulge his name until the officers got it from him by strategem. He turned out to be Alf Harvey, son of Mr. Harvey, an employe of the wire-works at New Brighton. He gave no cause for shooting at the conductor, and it is supposed he has been reading dime novels, and attended the play of "Jesse James," which was at Brighton a short time ago. The boys' father took him home.

An Address from Tammany.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—At a regular meeting of the Tammany hall general committee resolutions were adopted calling upon all Democrats to unite in one continued and aggressive attack on the corruptions, etc., of the party which, as the resolutions say, have so long dominated the country and violated every constitutional safeguard; protesting against the passage of the Roosevelt bill giving the mayor full power to appoint officers, and condemning the high license bill as being class legislation in favor of the rich and against the poor. Also, calling upon the National Democratic convention which meets at Chicago next July, to select their candidate for president from this state.

Yale Boat Club.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 28.—At a meeting of the Yale Boat club, President Merritt presiding, an amendment to the constitution was passed which places the entire management and police of Yale's boating interest in the hands of an executive committee, consisting of a graduate, the coach and the captain, and the entire business management remains with the president as before. Bob Cook, '76, will undoubtedly be the graduate member of the committee, and the sentiment of the meeting seemed to heartily endorse him in his treatment of the crew.

ON MARYLAND SHORES.

Why Eyes are Turning Eastward and something of the Pleasures Promised.

Indications point to quite an extensive emigration from the west eastward commencing with the approach of spring. The movement appears to have its impetus in the desire on the part of those with whom the rigors of a western winter deal harshly, and the coming haven of a perfect contentment would seem to be Maryland. The climate, for its general evenness and just enough of the salt of the sea to avoid extremes, either in the direction of dryness or of humidity, offers very many inducements to those so constituted as to be rendered anything but happy by sudden changes. In few states is the proportion of bright sun-shiny days greater than in Maryland, and the winters as a rule, while ranging as cool as eight to ten above zero, are even and equable, very rarely indeed going to one extreme or the other. It is a mistake to class Maryland as of the Southern states, with the belief that being such the weather in summer must necessarily be the hottest of the hot. The truth of the matter is Maryland, as a rule, is cooler on an average during the summer than the majority of western states, the nights being particularly pleasant and refreshing. Then think of the markets of the old state. Oysters, terrapin, canvass back ducks and other such toothsome luxuries in the winter, and in summer so endless a variety of luscious fruits, as to make one's mouth water to call them to mind. The agricultural, fruit and vegetable sections of Maryland are perfect gardens: the soil so rich, and avenues of cultivation so numerous, that he who earns his bread by the sweat of his brow gets sustenance in full proportion to his exertion. The famous eastern shore of Maryland is a veritable paradise for the horny-handed son of toil, as it was the fashion to call him some years since. There are markets at his very doors for almost everything taken from good old Mother Earth. Of his late years the business of canning of fruits and vegetables, has grown to enormous dimensions, and all through the different counties canning establishments have been erected, and contracts are made for products oft-times before even the seed has been planted. About every farmer has his own oyster-bed, as well as his "ducking blind," and in the summer season supplies his table with the finest of fish in great variety, at no other cost than the mere trouble of catching them. All this may read to some people as a romance, but a visit to the eastern shore or a trip through the garden counties of the western shore, would quickly demonstrate it fact, and if anything falling short of rather than exceeding reality.

So many letters have of late been received from the west by the B. & O. at headquarters in Baltimore, relative to opportunities for locating in Maryland, and the desire being to afford the fullest information, much material to aid in this latter respect has been gathered together and forwarded for the better convenience of all interested, to Mr. T. H Dearborn, General Northwestern agent, 83 Clark street, Chicago Ill. Those wishing full and explicit details with notes as to property which can be secured, laws of the state and the county system of government, and in fact about everything of importance, should call upon or write to Mr. Dearborn.

We Owe.

A debt of gratitude to the German women and physicians who have developed the great medicinal qualities of Red Clover blossoms. Best results are obtained when combined with other medicinal roots and herbs, as in Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic, which is the best known remedy for all blood diseases, stomach and liver troubles, pimples, costiveness, bad breath, piles, ague and malaria diseases, indigestion, loss of appetite, low spirits, headache and all diseases of the kidneys. Price 50 cents, of Stearns & Baker.

Fulton.

—There is to be a Leap year party at VanEtta's hall, Thursday evening. We suppose it is to be an elegant affair.

—Al. Fuller left for Milwaukee to-day. He goes there to have his eyes operated upon.

—An acquaintance of ours, who prides himself on being a good shot, went out sometime ago to shoot a skunk that he had caught in a trap. After circulating around to get a shot he finally blazed away and then went to examine, the result was that he had broken the trap and the skunk had gone to parts unknown. He is thinking some of joining the Angle-worm-club.

—M. F. Gary bought the Courtwright place yesterday at sheriff's sale. Consideration two hundred and seventy-seven dollars.

A Perfect Medicine Chest.

Sing Sing, N. Y., postoffice, March 19, 1883. One week ago, while engaged in my duties as assistant postmaster, I was taken with a violent pain or kink in my back; it was so painful I could hardly breathe, and I ached all over my body. I immediately sent for and Allcock Porous Plaster and applied it over the seat of pain; in twenty minutes I was entirely relieved and cured. I have used Allcock's Plasters in my family for over twenty years, and have found them wonderfully effective in curing coughs, colds, and pulmonary difficulties. They are a perfect medicine chest; they cure without the slightest pain or inconvenience, never leaving a mark on the skin.

THOS. LEARY.

President of village of Sing Sing, N. Y.

When purchasing a Porous Plaster, be sure to get "Allcock's." All other so-called Porous Plasters are imitations.

—Wm. Watson Turner's youngest child died last Thursday very suddenly of congestion of the lungs. Mr. Turner was in the west prospecting for a new home and at the time of the death his whereabouts wasn't known as to reach him by telegraph. Such instances as this makes death seem almost unbearable.

—Facts are stubborn things, fathers ditto:—Sunday evening—

Maid of Crow town, we must part,
I hear your father—I must start;
He's broken of his midnight rest,
Discretion on my part is best;
I'd better git.

Maid of Crow town, ere I go,
Kiss me once, for luck, you know;
Your father's foot is on the floor,
None but the brave deserve the Crows,
The lamp ain't lit.

Maid of Crow town, just once more,
Little ships must hug the shore;
Hark! he's cocked the gun, I'm sure,
Furg, Is in hard luck again.
Great Scott! don't shoot.

—Every day that is suitable, many loads of tobacco is being marketed. Among the lucky farmers in the delivery of their tobacco this year might be mentioned Wat Davis and sons; they raised seven acres which was one of the first crops sold in the town for which they received the handsome sum of $1000.50. Mr. Rowe, the purchaser received this crop without any discount and pronounced it well handled.

—The M. E. church was filled to its greatest capacity Sunday evening by an appreciative audience, to hear Jack Warberton lecture on the temperance question. Jack makes some fine points and sends his shots right to the mark.

—Surprise parties and weddings seem to be the go now-a-days.

—James Hopkins & Son recently sold to C. H. McIntosh, of Lodi, Wis., a fine specimen of the short horn persuasion, This calf was 21 months old, and weighed on the 28th of last January, 1,540 pounds. Who can beat this? Messrs. Hopkins have a very choice herd of cattle, and anyone wishing such stock would do well to call and see this herd, as they have four choice breeders for sale this spring. Loron Finch, of La Prairie, recently purchased of this firm a choice calf, price, $100; Wat. Hubard, of Union, calf, price, $100; Norma J. Jipson, of Green county, calf, $100. Sampson thinks this pays equally as well as fine wool sheep.

—Old lady Fish has been very low with neuralgia of the stomach. Sunday she was reported better. Mrs. Fish is 76 years old, and up to her recent sickness has been able to keep house for her two sons. Strange that in a land of seventeen millions of women a man"ly" should remain single.

—A good, lively grange meeting last Saturday.

Shoplere.

—A. H. Manley, of Manchester, Ill., has rented Mrs. Randall's house, and will remove to our village soon.

—It is said that one of our citizens labored very hard at the fire of Moseley's shops, carrying water in a pail which had no bottom to it.

—Ed. Moseley has purchased the cheese factory building of Thomas Holmes, and will move it upon the old site, and use it for his shop.

—There will be a donation for the benefit of Rev. J. Varty, at the M. E. church, Friday evening, February 29th.

—The report that Ed. Moseley does not get his insurance is untrue. The adjusters are to meet Thursday for the purpose of settling the matter.

—The large engine which has been in use by Mr. Grant in his sorghum factory, will be removed and sent to parties in Yellowstone, Wis.

—Rev. E. J. Alden, of Chicago, is expected to preach in the Congregational church next Sabbath.

—Miss Annie Kline has returned home after a winter's visit with friends near Chicago.

—The exercises at the literary meeting Tuesday evening were very interesting. The programme was complete and all the parts were well filled.

—Our orchestra, composed of Humphrey Weirick and Mott, rendered some as fine music as we have listened to for a long while.

—There are a good many sick in our community at present. Most of it is caused by the mumps which makes some of them look in the face like a squirrel with a mouth full of hickory nuts.

Harmony.

—The young folks had a social dance at the home of Mr. John Cunningham, last Thursday evening. A jolly time was had by all.

—Mr. and Mrs. L. Adams and Dr. Morrel left last week for Iowa, where Mr. Adams has gone into business. Both Mr. Morrel and Laura will be greatly missed in this community, where they have so long resided. Yet we cannot expect to always keep our friends with us, and therefore wish them health and prosperity wherever the sun shines on them.

—Mr. Isaac Leake has moved down on Milwaukee street, in the house made vacant by Dr. Morrel, and his son Albert works his home farm.

—The members of the Scotch church have been having a series of socials this winter, and their last was held last week, at Mr. Jameson's, in the south part of the town. They have good times, and if you don't believe it, go and see for yourself.

—If you want to settle your dinner, just jump into a cutter and ride to the city. Oh, its delightful.

The injury resulting from adulteration of food articles is being recognized and met by legal enactments. The result will be, to leave DeLand's Chemical Baking Powder almost sole occupant of the field.

Emerald Grove.

—There seems to be an unusual amount of sickness in and about the Grove and Dr. Seeber is kept on the move Sundays and all.

—Come to Hastings for goods at close prices.

—Mr. James Dean has been confined to the house during the winter with asthma and is still unable to rest in a reclining position. His son Jimmie, who has suffered for some time with an attack of inflamitory rheumatism is still quite low.

—The creamery enterprise in this locality seems to have gone by the board, no parties being found willing to put up the institution on their own responsibility. Goodrich, of Milton, is now contracting for cream of the farmers we understand.

—Mrs. Lilburn is in receipt of an address from her husband that he is enjoying good health and having a pleasant time visiting old time friends in Scotland.

—The day school will give an entertainment consisting of recitations, dialogues, etc., in the school house on Saturday evening next. Admission 10 cents.

—A coffee and sandwich social, for the benefit of the Congregational mite society, will be held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lilburn, on Friday evening, March 7th, 1884. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

—The Emerald Grove hearse received a telephone order yesterday to be present at the funeral of Mrs. James McGowan, residing on the old territorial road, south of Johnstown Center.

—Please bear in mind that the leap year chicken pie social at C. H. Stevens, Friday evening, will never leave a vacuum in the "upper story" of the church-going people of Emerald Grove, but assist in strengthening the "inner man" for the liabilities of wearing the "night dress."

TUTT'S PILLS

TORPID BOWELS,
DISORDERED LIVER,
and MALARIA.

From these sources arise three-fourths of the diseases of the human race. These symptoms indicate their existence: Loss of Appetite, Bowels costive, Sick Headache, fullness after eating, aversion to exertion of body or mind, Eructation of food, Irritability of temper, Low spirits, A feeling of having neglected some duty, Dizziness, Fluttering at the Heart, Dots before the eyes, highly colored Urine, CONSTIPATION, and demand the use of a remedy that acts directly on the Liver. As a Liver medicine TUTT'S PILLS have no equal. Their action on the Kidneys and Skin is also prompt; removing all impurities through these three "scavengers of the system," producing appetite, sound digestion, regular stools, a clear skin and a vigorous body. TUTT'S PILLS cause no nausea or griping nor interfere with daily work and are a perfect

ANTIDOTE TO MALARIA.

HE FEELS LIKE A NEW MAN.

"I have had Dyspepsia, with Constipation, two years, and have tried ten different kinds of pills, and TUTT'S are the first that have done me any good. They have cleaned me out nicely. My appetite is splendid, food digests readily, and I now have natural passages. I feel like a new man." W. D. EDWARDS, Palmyra, O.

MISCELLANEOUS,

Chronic Diseases.

A Special Study for Years.

Dr. F. B. BREWER

Has made Chronic Diseases of the

A special treatment for years. He is not a boastful, ignorant pretender, but an educated physician, seeking to do good, by devoting his talent and energies to the treatment of a class of maladies that have been with him a long and patient study. To be able to treat successfully chronic diseases it requires that a physician should be a sound, thorough scholar in the art of science and medicine generally. He should give his entire time to their study, be thorough in his investigations and have a long and varied experience. Dr. Brewer claims to work no wonders or to do any more than any well educated physician can do, who devotes his whole time to the study and treatment of chronic diseases exclusively, and has had his many years' of experience. For years Dr. Brewer has visited the the places he now visits, and has obtained his reputation by being honest in his dealings, candid in opinions and reasonable in his charges. Those who are afflicted are invited to call, investigate and decide for themselves. It will cost nothing to do so. Address all letters to —Our correspondent in the town of Center sends us the following brief account of the burning of the tobacco shed in that town on Monday night, mention of which was made in the Gazette on Tuesday evening: "Dick Winston's tobacco shed burned to the ground Monday night, said to contain five tons of tobacco. He was taken before the municipal court and placed under bonds for the same amount. Not being able to procure the bonds, last evening he was taken to the county jail, and this afternoon he again appeared in court and gave the necessary bond for his appearance.

The Coming Election.

The municipal election in this city will take place on Tuesday, April 1st, at which the people will elect a mayor, clerk, treasurer, city attorney for two years, street commisioner, justice of the peace, sealer of weights and measures, an alderman in each of the wards for two years, a constable for each of the wards, a supervisor for each of the wards, and a school commissioner in second and fourth wards.

The aldermen whose term of office expires this spring, are James Shearer, republican, in the first; Herman Buchholz, democrat, in the second; D. E. Fifield, republican in the third; P. J. Leonhartz, democrat, in the fourth, and B. J. Daly, democrat, in the fifth.

As yet there is but very little interest taken in the election by the people, yet the personal friends of some candidates are quietly at work paving the way for success in the different conventions. It now looks as though the convention would be a quiet one, as no side issue has yet come to the surface to create a discussion, and that the only issue so far presented, is the "survival of the fittest."

For the benefit of the politicians, we publish the committees of both parties:

THE NATIONAL GUARDS.

An Interesting Paper on the Rights and Liabilities of National Guardsmen.

Read Before the Third Annual Convention of the Wisconsin National Guard by Lieut. J. B. Doe, Jr. of This City.

The third annual convention of the officers of the Wisconsin National Guard is now in session at Madison, and is well attended. At the session last evening, Col. G. N. Chase, of Madison, read a paper on the Operations of War, which was followed by Col. Charles King, of Milwaukee, on The Supression of Riots, and by Gen. Lucius Fairchild, of Madison, on The Active Militia Before the War, and The Volunteer Service in Other Countries. At the session this afternoon Lieutenant J. B. Doe, Jr., of the Janesville Guards, read the following excellent paper on the "Rights and liabilties of National Guardmen":

"All sail and no anchor," wrote Macauly, of the American constitution, alluding to the lack of what might be called man-of-war features in our ship of state; to the absence of that ponderous safeguard with its chafing iron cable, a mighty standing army, truly, a sheet anchor in a storm, but only over-burdening and grinding the vessel in calm and peaceful weather.

We are compelled to disagree with Macauly when we reflect upon the wording of Article II of the amendments to the constitution: "A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed." There is our anchor, light, trim, even ornamental in peace, strong, fit, a sure refuge in danger.

Never were truer words spoken than those of Jefferson: "For a people who are free and mean to remain so, a well organized and armed militia is their best security."

The primary object which each state has in sustaining its national guard, is the possession of a power to enforce its laws, maintain its authority, and protect its citizens and their property from the sudden violence of mobs, riots, insurrections or invasions. Such being the object of the national guard, what are the rights and liabilities of its members?

Of course, to exhaust such a subject would require volumes; but if we can touch briefly upon one or two principles of importance, and glance at our state laws relative to the enquiry, the object of this little paper may be considered to have been accomplished. First, as to the right to call out the militia.

The president of the United States, congress, the governor of the state, the state legislature, a United States marshal, the sheriff of a county or the mayor of a city, and no other authority, can legally call upon the Wisconsin national guard for active service; and the three last mentioned officials can only request, not order, a state military officer, to turn out his command for duty. But when any armed force shall be called out for the purpose of suppressing any riot, or dispersing any body of men acting together by force with intent to commit any felony, or to offer violence to persons or property, or with intent by force to resist the execution of the laws of the state, such armed force, when it shall arrive at the place of the unlawful assembly or riot, must obey any orders for suppressing the riot or dispersing the assembly, and for arresting any person engaged therein, as may have been given by the governor, or the judge of any court of record, or the sheriff of the county, and also any further orders that may be given by any two of the following magistrates or officers, viz.: The mayor or any alderman, president, trustee, justice of the peace, deputy sheriff, constable and coroner of the city, village, or town wherein such magistrates or officers live? and if by reason of the efforts made by the direction of such civil officers to quell a riot, disperse a mob, or to arrest any persons taking part in any unlawful assembly after such persons shall have refused to disperse, any person present as a spectator or otherwise be killed or wounded, all persons acting by the orders of the civil officers mentioned, are held by the laws of this state guiltless and fully justified in law, and moreover, if any of the civil officers mentioned or anyone acting under their directions be killed or wounded, all the persons who are unlawfully assembled are answerable therefor. In case of riot or tumult, however, the military are not under the command of any civilian at any time, but under their own officers. The civil officers only direct in a general way what is to be done; as for example, to clear a street, guard certain buildings, disperse a mob, &c., the method and details are for the military commander to decide upon, but the military officer in command should, before taking measures which may result in loss of life, request the rioters to disperse.

The right of a state legislature to declare martial law, and of a state to use its military power to put down insurrection too strong to be controlled by its civil authority, was affirmed by the United States supreme court, in a very interesting case from Rhode Island, in 1849, and the state itself or its governor must determine what degree of force is necessary. The military having been called upon, the state or neighborhood is, to some extent at least, in a state of war, and the officers in command of the military may lawfully arrest any one whom they have reasonable grounds to believe is engaged in the riot or insurrection, and may order a house to be forcibly entered and searched when they have reasonable grounds to believe that persons engaged in the insurrection are concealed therein, "without the power to do this" in the words of Chief Justice Taney, "Martial law and the military array of the government would be mere parade and rather encourage attack than repel it."

It is not lawful, however, in the exercise of these powers, to use more force than is necessary to accomplish the object, and if the power be used for purposes of oppression, or if any injury be maliciously done to person or property, the party by whom, or by whose orders, such injury is committed is undoubtedly liable. The general rule is that a police officer when making an arrest may repel force with force but must not exceed the necessity of the case, and this rule should govern military officers, for when martial law is declared or when the national guard is called into active service the police power of the state is vested in her soldiery.

Now let me briefly call attention to the somewhat obvious, but often overlooked distinction between "military," and "martial" law—

Military law consists of the rules and articles of war, and other statutory provisions for the government of military persons, together with the unwritten law of "usages and customs of the service." It exists equally in peace or war.

Martial law exists only in time of war and originates in military necessity. It derives no authority from the civil law, no assistance from civil tribunales, for it overrules, suspends and replaces both.

Military law applies only to military force.

Martial law reaches equally the soldier and the citizen.

As early as 1820 it was decided that militia men called out for service and failing to respond, were subject to court martial under state authority, even when the call to arms came from the white house itself, and if in this state any commissioned officer who fails to give the notice to his subordinates required by law, or fails to respond when called into active service, is liable to forfeit, not less than $100, nor more than $500, and any non-commissioned officer, musician or private, who after being duly notified, fails to appear ready for duty, is liable to forfeit not less than $50, nor more than $300.

Physical incapacity to perform military service, dangerous sickness in his family, or absence when the notice was served are the only valid excuses, and in the last case the absentee must join his command immediately on his return.

As we have seen, no military officer can order out the National Guard for the purpose of suppressing riot or insurrection, repelling invasion, to protect persons or property, or enforce the laws, (for the president or governor in issuing such order, acts in his civil capacity.) But when properly called upon by the civil authority, the power of the commander of the troops, is only limited by the exigencies of the occasion, and he may shed blood, or destroy property ad libitum if he deem it necessary, and no responsibility will attach to him therefor. The case in our supreme court in which Governor Solomon was the defendant and which arose out of the efforts of the governor, by means of state troops to quell a riot at Port Washington, in this state, and to enforce the draft, is very interesting reading upon this point.

The officer in command should be careful to ascertain that he has proper authority to act. If he be legally called upon and directed what to accomplish, how to accomplish it, is for him fearlessly to decide, and from his decision there is no appeal. If directed to clear a street, he is to do it with "arms port," with bayonets, or with bullets, as he shall deem necessary and his judgment shall dictate.

Any officer serving the government with skill, fidelity and and energy, will not be held liable for mere errors of judgment in the discharge of his duties, yet, if he step outside of his authority and inflict any private injury, either from malice, cruelty or any species of oppression, or while engaged in acts not performed with a view to public ends, he is not shielded from responsibility and is undoubtedly liable for any damages resulting. As Vattel in his law of nations says, "The lawful end gives a true right only to those means which are necessary for obtaining that end. Whatever exceeds this is censured by the laws of nature as faulty, and will be condemned at the tribunal of conscience. Hence it is, that the right to exercise such acts of hostility varies according to their circumstances. What is just and perfectly innocent in a war in one particular situation, is not always so in another. Right goes hand in hand with necessity and the exigency of the case, but never exceeds it."

But every public officer is presumed to act in accordance with his duty until the contrary is shown; and it would be opposed to all principles of law, justice and sound policy to hold that officers when called upon to exercise their deliberate judgment, are answerable for a mistake in law, either civilly or criminally, when their motives are pure and untainted with fraud or malice. No officer is ever liable for illegal and unauthorized acts performed by his subordinate unless in his immediate presence.

A soldier of the regular army, and I see no reason why the rule does not apply to a member of the National Guard, when on duty, can rightly be demanded by the civil authorities to be tried and punished by them, only when he is charged with an offence in time of peace such as is punishable by the known laws of the land, to wit, a United States or state law.

A city ordinance is not such a law, but a soldier off duty, who is drunk or disorderly, and so violates a city ordinance, may be arrested in the act and restrained, but not tried and punished by civil authority.

In case of such arrest and restraint it is the duty of civil authorities to surrender the prisoner to the military on demand, and it is the duty of the military to enforce the military law against such offences, and if the civil authorities refuse to deliver the soldier on demand, he may be taken by force. But if instead of force the commanding officer resort to the writ of habeas corpus, the prisoner must be discharged.

Under our state law, the commanding officer at any parade, review or drill, may cause the ground selected to be marked out in such a way as not to obstruct travel on any highway, and may arrest and confine until sunset, any person who shall go upon such ground without the commanders consent, and the offender may be also arrested and tried in the usual way, for a breach of the peace for such intrusion.

I have seen commanding officers handle their commands upon the streets of a city as though they thought it an impertinence for a citizen in plain clothes to attempt to pass, but the law does not seem to uphold such a view of the matter. The readiness with which citizens surrender the use of the streets to the military, whenever needed is most admirable, however, indeed I never knew any objection to be made, unless by that lord of laws, and hidalgo of the highway, a blustering, swaggering hackman. It is also the law in our state, that if any person should insult, by abusive words or acts, or interfere with any national guardsman while on duty, such person shall be immediately arrested and kept confined at the discretion of the commanding officer, not longer than until sunset of the same day, and such offender may also be arrested and punished by civil authority for a breach of the peace.

So it would seem that the law is a protecting shield to the national guardsman so long as he does his duty, his whole duty, and nothing but his duty, and he bears an avenging sword the moment he departs from duty's safe, though narrow path, and allows himself to be led astray by any ignus fatus of passion, malice, greed, or other personal end.

So let each citizen soldier keep the good will of all, the end in view, and labor to increase the strength, the efficiency and the knowledge of the national guard, so that in the time to come, when we look down the long line from Maine to Texas, and from Oregon to Florida, we may justly feel a pride in our efficiency and glory in our strength, and seeing the national guard of the north and of the south, the east and the west, shoulder to shoulder in the march of improvement, we may safely say, "Come the three corners of the world in arms, and we shall shock them."

The Tax Sale.

The sale of property for unpaid city taxes for the year 1883, took place in the city treasurer's office at ten o'clock this forenoon. The attendance was not large, but respectable, there being a lawyer, a newspaper reporter, and another gentleman present. But twenty-eight certificates were sold, the total amounting to only $260.08. Included in this was a piece of land on South Bluff street, adjoining Patten's grove, sold for street grading tax, $40,58, which dates back to 1882, which, if taken out of this year's sale would only leave $219.50. Of the twenty-eight certificates sold the largest one was for $32.43, being one of the water power lots, and the smallest one was for $1.10, being the old "red school house" property, located near the residence of Colonel Burr Robbins. This sale is the smallest on record in this city. Last year was the smallest up to that time, the sale being that of forty-eight certificates, for the sum of $400.68; $181.19 more than the sale of 1884. This is a good record for the tax-payers, and one that no other city in the west can excel.

An Art Raffle.

There was quite a gathering of people at Mr. Albert Bender's saloon, on Main street, last evening, congregated for the purpose of witnessing the drawing of some handsome oil paintings, which were to be disposed of by "raffle." The pictures, three in number, were from the easel of Mr. Bender, and were very fine specimens. The first one was a scene on the "Upper Wisconsin River," and was of extra large size, valued at $75. This was drawn by ticket No. 50, purchased by Mr. Judd Robinson, of the Rock River house, town of Janesville' who sold his chance to Mr. George Charlton, of this city. Picture No. 2, "East Bluff, Devils Lake," while not so large as the first one, was a beautiful scene, valued at $50, and was drawn by Joseph Hoffmaster, of this city. Picture No. 3, "A summer scene," being the smallest, valued at $40, but deemed by many to be the handsomest of the set, was drawn by Mr. Henry Edler, also of this city. The drawing was witnessed by many of the ticket holders, and caused considerable amusement as each of the numbers were taken from the box. We understand that Mr. Bender intends going to Chicago, where he will take a course of lessons in painting. He now stands at the head of amateur artists in this section of country, and no doubt, with a little study, he will rank among the best in the land.

An Afflicted Family.

The family of Mrs. E. Forbes, residing in a suite of rooms at No. 8 North Main street, has been sorely afflicted this winter. Just before Thanksgiving day the mother was attacked with typhoid fever, and is now only able to be up a portion of the time, being reduced to almost a living skeleton. About the same time the oldest daughter Sarah was attacked by the same disease, and after a struggle of many weeks, is now able to be about the house. The saddest part of the sufferings of the family is that relating to the youngest daughter, Hattie, aged but 12 years, 5 months and 28 days. She was attacked by the fever three weeks ago, and notwithstanding the kind nursing of sympathizing neighbors, her little frame and weakar constitution were not strong enough to hold life in the struggle with that terrible disease, and at 9:30 o'clock last evening, the messouger of death visited her quiet chamber, and her little soul was taken over the broad river of death.

The terrible suffering, and struggle of the family with this seige of sickness, has so reduced them in funds, that the mother was not able to provide proper burial of the remains of her child, but neighbors and friends came to her relief, and in a short time a sufficient sum was raised to defray all the expense of the funeral, and leaving a balance to be given the stricken family for further use.

The remains were taken to the vault in Oak Hill cemetery this afternoon, Rev. Dr. Hodge offering an appropriate prayer at the vault. The regular funeral service will be held on Sunday.

A Temperate but Satisfying Drink

There has been of late years a demand for roasted coffee of the finest quality as to bouquet and strength in the cup. Dealers, in their efforts to supply this demand, have ordered all sorts of combinations, such as Mocha and Java, Marricabo and Java, &c., &c., without obtaining the elixir they sought. We take pleasure in informing our readers that after many years of search in the markets of the world, Messrs. Bell, Conrad & Co., the enterprising and reliable tea, coffee and spice men of Chicago, have secured a coffee that is a breakfast in itself. This coffee is their Plantation Java, which we take pleasure in recommending to our readers as the finest coffee grown, possessing strength and flavor, the two essentials of a perfect coffee. This Plantation Java is strictly a private growth, and by special arrangement Messrs. Bell, Conrad & Co. will control all that is grown. They guarantee the coffee to suit the most fastidious consumer or the money will be refunded.

A Card.

The ladies having charge of the "Japanese Festival," hoped ere this, to be able to give a definite answer to the many who are interested to know, of its success financially, but, owing to unsettled accounts, are unable to do so at this date. But we cannot wait longer to thank those who in any way, whether by a generous patronage or assistance, helped to make the affair pleasant and profitable. To our business men who so cordially took space in our advertising napkin; to the owner of hall, and printers for reduced rates; to those who enlivened the evenings with music and song; we tender hearty thanks. Especially would we make mention of the young ladies and misses who for the time were aliens from home, and in the costume of their native country served and displayed the wares of their land beyond the sea, not forgetting the little Japs who came bringing songs and perfumes from their far off, Orient Isle.

Nor would we forget the ticket sellers, who with excelsior for their motto, persistently rung your door bells, invaded your places of business and whose unfortunate query—"buy a ticket?" resounded throughout every ward of the city. To one and all we say, thanks.

"Bellee Cold, Madame."

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Noyes, who are spending a few days with old friends in the city, show many evidences of the quiet life incident to a two-months' residence in the ancient village of Prairie du Chien. They report the attractions of the place as select, but somewhat limited. The church privileges are good, and consist of a Congregational society, numbering six regular attendants; a Methodist society strong enough to be able to employ a minister on commission;—if the season is favorable, he hopes to receive about four hundred dollars. The only every-day amusement furnished by the town is a street-railway, which is liberally patronized by all classes. One cold morning last week a well filled car was slowly making its way up-town, when a Chinaman stepped aboard. Shivering with the cold, but evidently well bred, and wishing to be courteous, he addressed a corpulent lady of race distinction, and politely bowing, said: "Bellee cold!" "Belly cold," was answered. "I should think it would be; why don't yees tuck yer shirt in yer pants, ye haythen."

An attentive mind and a retentive memory can do much to while away the time in as antediluvian a town as Prairie du Chien, and as Mr. and Mrs. Noyce have cultivated the mind and not neglected the memory, they will survive the quiet of the old town which is their temporary home, and leave it with many pleasant recollections.

When we consider the little attention which is paid to the laws of health, we cannot be surprised at the indifference manifested in relation to the purity of the articles that are used in daily food. If all articles put upon the market were as perfect as Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, this indifference might answer.

The Weather.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 9 degrees below zero. Clear, with northwest wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was at zero. Partly cloudy with northwest wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 18 and 44 degrees above zero.
